

Where the river meets the ocean,
where the woman meets the community.

To Whom it may Concern,

Working with Kris has been delightful. For many reason; her level of professionalism, her great sense of humour, her complete commitment to her work, her dedication to her word and her awesome creativity. It is also important to say this-her ability to carry out the ideas that I have had into graphic design were accurate, how she is able to do that with one fell swoop I am not sure but it is so beneficial to one who works with her.

Needless to say that being able to always count on what she says she will do and does, is in line with her integrity. This is so refreshing because working in a Not for profit business, when you are always relying on volunteers most of them do not make you a priority, this is contrary to working with Kris. Her work has brought a professional artistic level of design that I was lacking before. I am proud of my logo, my business cards, and the letter head I use, have confidence in the power point I show and trust her when I give her any task. She would be an enormous benefit to any business or organization.

Jacqueline Waters
Executive Director of Double Waters